

DIVINELY FOOTBALL !

GADAGNE MUSEUMS – LYON HISTORY MUSEUM
21 APRIL - 4 SEPTEMBER 2016

PRESS IMAGES

Famous Portuguese footballer Eusebio (da Silva Ferreira) passed away in January 2014 at the age of 71. Upon learning the news, his fans draped Benfica Lisbon scarves over the statue dedicated to him in front of the Estadio da Luz in Lisbon. Nicknamed "The Black Panther", Eusebio was one of the greatest players in the history of football. © EPA/PEDRO NUNES

On the Via San Gregorio Armeno in Naples, artisans sculpt and sell presepi figurines, along with statuettes of football heroes like Mario Balotelli (left) and Ciriaco De Simone (right). © EPA/CIRO FUSCO

The effigy of Portuguese football hero Cristiano Ronaldo is presented to Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum in London just in time for the start of the 2010 World Cup. The photo shows the application of the final touches. © EPA / BRUNO MANTEIGAS

A fan of the French national team at the 2000 European Championship match between France and Denmark. Written across her forehead is "Zizou", the nickname of French player Zinedine Zidane. © EPA / Belga / OLIVIER HOSLET

Image from the exhibition Football Hallelujah ! © Amsterdam Museum / DR

Official poster for Divinement Foot ! © Kamp Seedorf / musées Gadagne